THE BEAUTY OF
WHITE WOMEN

— THE HISTORY —

Thank you for viewing our December issue of High on Ivory Magazine. We aim to celebrate, appreciate and explore the beauty of White women from around the world in all of their wonderful, various forms - not just certain aspects.

During 2018, I noticed disturbing patterns in others whenever someone acknowledged a White woman's beauty. Their looks would be scorned or disparaged, admirers would be berated, etc. It's not unique at all, but the way in which such negative attitudes are widely accepted certainly is. I couldn't bear a second more of what I was seeing. So, in late November of that same year, I created High on Ivory, a community dedicated to recognizing the endless beauty of White women in a positive, respectful manner.

My intentions are to give recognition to a beauty that I think deserves to be properly appreciated just as much as anything else in the world. This magazine is an extended collection of photos capturing their beauty, what I refer to as Ivory: the essence of radiant White women, a kind of beauty that forever enthralls the heart and mind of those who have been touched by their splendor.

This is High on Ivory, enjoy.
